Ladies and Gentlemen,
Dear Equestrian Sports Enthusiasts,

On behalf of the Longines management, I would like to extend to you a very warm welcome to the 5th leg of the 2023 Longines Global Champions Tour in Ramatuelle / St-Tropez, France. We promise you many memorable sports moments with breathtaking performances to be delivered at this eagerly awaited event.

As the Title Partner, Official Timekeeper and Official Watch of this prestigious event, we will continue to be a dedicated supporter of showjumping and reinforce Longines' longstanding ties with the equestrian world that date back to 1869. To further embrace the rich heritage of this revered discipline, we are pleased to cement the event's world-class status with our unwavering commitment to precision and excellence, the same values that have been shared by many leading athletes in equestrian sports. This year again, we look forward to supporting the foremost riders vying for success in the fifth stage of the Longines Global Champions Tour and attending three days of enthralling competitions, from 1st to 3rd June 2023 in the amazing place of Ramatuelle / St-Tropez.

On this very special occasion, we would like to highlight the Official Watch of the event, an elegant timepiece of the new Longines DolceVita X YVY line. Swiss designer Yvonne Reichmuth has given the famously rectangular timepieces a new identity, with sophisticated leather straps. Referencing the equestrian world so dear to Longines, their design is evocative to bridles and harness.

I wish you a thrilling weekend filled with wonderful sports emotions at the Longines Global Champions Tour of Ramatuelle / St-Tropez, where top-level show jumping meets the unique atmosphere of this place. I hope this event will leave you lasting memories.

Ramatuelle, land of cultures

For more than 50 years, the village has seduced internationally renowned artists and creators every year; on its beaches in relaxation as on the stage of its outdoor theatre in performance before they fell in love with it and it became, for many, an essential and regular place to stay.

Initially, it was the white sand and turquoise waters of Pampelonne beach that impressed the film. A natural beauty so striking that it was chosen by film studios to feature Polynesia in Aloha, the song of the islands (1937), without having to cross the ocean. A relationship that can be read in the name of many establishments from Pago-Pago to Moorea, passing of course by Tahiti Plage.

Burning under the sun of Provence, the beauty of Pampelonne sublimates the filming of 'And God Created Woman' by brushing against the skin of a certain Brigitte Bardot. We are in 1955 and the film crew looking for a canteen, Club 55 was born, quite naturally, from an encounter between wild nature and culture taking up its summer quarters. A momentum that would soon make the neighbouring fishing village of Saint-Tropez world famous and attract generations of artists to Ramatuelle.

A theatre under the stars

Extending its green commune from the old village, perched on its hill, to the coast, from the fine sandy beaches to the chiselled coves, Ramatuelle, a rich terroir of viticulture, is resolutely open to culture. In 1985, in one month, an ancient open-air theatre came to curl up at the foot of the village, between the gardens and a thousand-year-old fig tree.

At the initiative of Jacqueline Franjou and Jean-Pierre Brialy, a summer festival was born.

He has since without fail invited the most illustrious representatives of the theatrical scene and iconic artists of French song to perform under the stars, in front of Ramatuelle's public.

A year later, the swing factor Denis Antoine created a Jazz festival which has been vibrating the blue notes every summer in the nights of Ramatuelle. He too, soon, invites the older ones, who respond present.

And the tradition continues, throughout the year; the town comes alive with cultural events, exhibitions, concerts and shows. While the talent of the artists magnifies the village, on the beach side, the establishments welcome the stars and aesthetes of today, a whole who's who who comes to enjoy Ramatuelle in an idyllic setting, marvellously preserved.

A land of nature, which has become a land of cultures.

LONGINES GLOBAL CHAMPIONS TOUR 2023
THE ULTIMATE INDIVIDUAL CHALLENGE

Explained

As the 2023 season of the Longines Global Champions Tour gets underway, the ultimate individual championship race heats up. With 16-stops on the 2023 tour, horses and riders will be challenged by technical courses, new arenas, unique backdrops and fierce competition.

Top talent, both equine and human, return to the Longines Global Champions Tour in 2023 in pursuit of individual glory. Opening in Doha, the tour spans the continents of Asia, Europe, The Americas and Middle East, delivering unbeatable venues for the best in show jumping.

With Doha as the launch pad, the tour took to Miami Beach for the second leg. Swiftly followed by Mexico City, the tour was seen hitting a new gear heading into the heart of Europe to Madrid. Locations such as Monaco, Paris, Cannes, Stockholm, London, Risenbeck and the Longines Tops International Arena in Valkenswaard, are to follow for the exciting season ahead.

The undercurrent of all events is the race to the Final. Hosted in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia's capital city, for the second year, points earned by riders on each stop on the tour contribute to the result of the overall championship finale.

Won by Ben Maher in 2022, in what was labelled the Trifecta of Championships, Maher wrote himself into the history books by taking out his third Longines Global Champions Tour Champion of Champions title.

In a secondary race for glory, riders, owners and trainers alike will be looking to get their hands on a Golden Ticket, a qualification for the Longines Global Champions Tour Super Grand Prix at the GC Prague Playoffs in November. Only 15 tickets up for grabs in 2023, with each winner earning one through a win in a Longines Global Champions Tour Grand Prix, if riders claim top podium position in more than one LGCT Grand Prix, the golden ticket is then handed down to the second placed rider.

As one of the highlights of each event on the Longines Global Champions Tour, the LGCT Grand Prix attracts jumping's top riders team up with their best horses for individual honours in a series of spectacular competitions on the tour.

All eyes are firmly focused on the 16-leg tour this year, with the question on everyone's lips... who will reach pole position on the leaderboard and earn the coveted title of Champion of Champions in 2023?

GCL 2023 SHOW JUMPING'S GREATEST TEAM CHALLENGE

Explained

An exciting 2023 is underway, with GCL again welcoming 16 teams to the 16-event series set to battle it down in the championship race.

In the months leading up to the kick off of the 2023 season, strategy for success has been front of mind for Team Owners and Managers, who have been refining their approach to kick off what is set to be a highly charged year ahead.

This year sees a change in the GCL series with the introduction of a new weekend format, designed to benefit both horse, rider and team strategy. The biggest change will see Round 1 and Round 2 of the GCL team series now take place on the same day with again no drop score.

A BRIEF GUIDE TO GCL

Launched in 2016, the GCL brings together the world's best horse and rider combinations from across the world from different nationalities riding on the same teams, rather than decided by country. Each team must feature an U25 rider, providing young talent of today, and future world champions of tomorrow, a launchpad of opportunity to ride, train and build camaraderie amongst their idols and the best in the business.

Each stop on the tour sees the teams compete in two rounds. In true championship style, the team's combined scores from Round 1 are taken through into Round 2. The easy format of no drop score makes it simple for new audiences in each destination to follow the team competition.

Round 1 of the GCL will see riders faced with a CSI 5* 1.55m class, with team managers strategizing for their best approach for a day of intense competition.

A short break between Round 1 and Round 2 could see strategic changes from Team Managers, who can swap in horses and/or riders between the back to back rounds, ultimately producing a highly competitive Round 2.

Round 2 of the GCL takes place straight after Round 1, is a CSI 5* 1.60m class. In Round 2, teams will be represented by two riders from their team, with scores and points at the end of the competition ultimately going towards their overall team score, and series standing.

Throughout the year teams earn points to the overall total and series standings which comes to a head in the Final in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia. The teams placed in the top four after the Final will be granted a fast track place at the GC Prague Playoffs for the GCL Super Cup Semi Finals, the ultimate final show-down.

GCL: 6 QUICK FACTS

- 1 The GCL competition is the ultimate teams challenge, where riders from across nations compete on the same teams in pursuit of glory
- 2 Each team can be represented by three riders at every event with only two riders competing in each round
- 3 Teams are represented by two riders per round, with all scores counting to the final standings
- 4 Round 2 will see teams carry through their penalties from Round 1, ultimately deciding the starting order for Round 2
- 5 The overall winners of the GCL competition will be the team with the least combined penalties and the quickest time over Round 2
- 6 The series culminates in the GC Prague Playoffs where the teams ranked 5th and below will compete in the first day GCL Super Cup Quarter Final, with only eight teams carrying through to the next day's competition - the Semi Final. They will be joined by the top four ranked teams in the overall season Championship, and battle

Longines DolceVita X YVY

THE OFFICIAL WATCH OF THE LONGINES
GLOBAL CHAMPIONS TOUR IN RAMATUELLE / ST. TROPEZ

During the fifth leg of the 2023 Longines Global Champions Tour in Ramatuelle / St. Tropez, Longines is proud to introduce the new Longines DolceVita X YVY line. Swiss designer Yvonne Reichmuth has given the famously rectangular timepieces a new identity, with sophisticated leather straps. Referencing the equestrian world so dear to Longines, their design is evocative to bridles and harness.

As the summer invites watch-wearers to bare their forearms and reveal the timepieces adorning them, the winged hourglass brand is unveiling its new line of Longines DolceVita X YVY models. The Swiss watch brand has matched its watches here with subtle double straps in leather, in three shades: double beige leather, brown and with black with rivets. The design of these models was entrusted to the Zurich-based company YVY, creators of sophisticated glam-rock accessories popular with international stars and a clientele looking for exclusivity.

The complementary worlds of Longines and YVY have come together in an almost instinctive collaboration. The straps of these Longines DolceVita X YVY models are made of Italian or Swiss leather. They are produced according to a traditional manufacturing method. Adorned and reinforced with metal details, their finishes are impeccable and feature striking references to the equestrian world beloved of the winged hourglass brand.

PREMIUMARES FOUNDER

Milena Pappas

PremiuMares Founder Milena Pappas on Evolving Bloodlines, the Shanghai Swans, and Her Favorite Part of Being a Breeder

Nothing in life is ever static, and neither is the quest to breed the next future champion. In fact, that last bit is something that PremiuMares' Founder Milena Pappas knows a thing or two about.

With its focus on premium mare bloodlines and a dedication to respectful breeding and training practices, this boutique operation has seen plenty of change in its eight years. But evolution is the key to success for Milena, who says the ability to keep a pulse on the ever-shifting needs of the sport is what truly sets PremiuMares apart.

This spring, we caught up with Milena—a long-time sponsor of the Longines Athina Onassis Horse Show (LAOHS)—to learn more about her co-ownership of the GCL's Shanghai Swans team, what she looks for in a broodmare, and why breeding the best is about so much more than a thorough knowledge of pedigrees.

Q: This will be the second time the PremiuMares "Best Mare" Award is offered at LAOHS—H&M Indiana was the first winner in 2022. Why was she the right horse to take home this special, inaugural honor?

A: I was delighted last year when Indiana won as this mare is such a fighter, and truly deserved to be given that credit! She has been so consistent and such an asset to her rider, Malin Baryard-Johnsson, but also to all of us who watch and follow the sport.

The important role the mare plays in any breeding program is fast receiving the recognition it deserves. There are many competitions throughout the year where stallions are showcased, promoted, and marketed, but few to none where mares are highlighted! This was a chance to put the sport's Best Mares in the spotlight.

Q: Speaking of mares, when it comes to breeding, what traits does PremiuMares most value in a broodmare?

A: I would say that we search for three things: health, resilience, and pedigree. That means having good x-rays, good genetics, no health issues that can be passed on to their foals, and being 'sturdy' mares in their own right. For us, this is very important in order to breed healthy and sound foals that can have long-lasting careers in the sport.

Our mares also need to have a good track record in competition. This increases the chance of breeding competitive sport horses, by giving us a better idea of the future foal's potential character. Knowing the mare's attitude in the sport helps us choose a good sire for her foals. It also increases the interest of potential buyers in auctions, and this is also important.

Finally, we look for a good pedigree. Though most buyers expect that the chance of success of a foal from a proven dam/damline will be higher, not all 'proven' damlines are created equal. For us, it's important that we continue to follow the results and the evolution of both old and new bloodlines.

Milena Pappas, Sara Tanganelli, Denis Monticolo, awarding Julien Epailard, winner of Prix PremiuMares

Our company is based on passion for the sport and a passion for breeding winners at all levels of show jumping. I take immense interest in watching the young horses start to evolve and prove their strength. For me, older pedigrees are important, but so are newer ones, and you never know what you're going to get. That's the beauty of breeding in our sport—out of nowhere, you might suddenly breed a champion!

Q: Changing gears a bit, your GCL team, the Shanghai Swans, are known for their fierce team spirit. What role do you play as owners, and how do you try to foster that camaraderie?

A: As owners and friends, the four of us—Julia Tops, Alexandra Thornton, Tess Carmichael and myself—do not interfere, as we respect our riders and trust them to make schedules that will yield the best results for all of us. But what is incredible and noble is how the riders always put the team first.

For instance, in Prague, all three of our riders were qualified for the Super Grand Prix, and yet, all three decided, on their own, to save their best horses for the team. Now if that's not team spirit, I don't know what is! Additionally, in Monaco, where we didn't have enough riders for the team, Max Kühner and Jeanne Sadran agreed to fly in and out while competing at other venues with different horses at the same time. While, in Ramatuelle/Saint Tropez last year, Christian Ahlmann forfeit jumping the Longines Global Champions Tour Grand Prix in order to save his horse for the team. And these are just some examples of what we all do for each other!

I believe we all have so much solidarity and respect and appreciation for one another. We have the same goals and ambitions, and it's so much fun rooting your riders and teammates on. We really enjoy our Team dinners and spending quality time at the VIPs, building our strong foundation. Being part of a team creates such intense emotions, but ultimately, it brings you even closer together.

Q: How does being a part of the Shanghai Swans play a role in PremiuMares' breeding and training operations?

A: Being part of the circuit and part of the Shanghai Swans has helped us meet riders of the highest caliber and, over time, to develop partnerships with them. This is something that we wish to enhance even more. Especially when it comes from horses of our own breeding, or mares that we have found when they were really young, seeing them come into themselves and go on to the highest level with our riders—it's all about that feeling!

For instance, we have two upcoming 9-year-olds, Toulanda degli Assi (Toulon x Nabab de Reve) under Max Kühner, and Jardessa (Berlin x Kashmir van Schuttershof) under Pius Schwizer, coming into their own and starting to make their mark at the grand-prix level. Our brilliant 8-year-old, Pocahontas 96 (Perigieux x Escudo I), under Christian Ahlmann, continues to bring home her share of wins. The best part is that these are all Shanghai Swans riders!

Q: I know PremiuMares focuses on carefully pairing its horses with the right riders. In terms of the breaking process, why is this so important?

A: At PremiuMares, we strive for excellence and quality in all of our partnerships, from our clinics and associates, to our partners in competition, and sponsorships at events such as LOAHS. But when it comes to our young horses, choosing the right partnership with a rider is a very crucial step.

Breaking a horse can give or take away that horse's confidence; it helps shape their attitude inside and outside of the ring, from how they are able to be handled at home, to how they interact with grooms, farriers, vets, etc. The next step after breaking for the horses that we decide to keep a bit longer is to try to match them with the riders that would suit them. We recently expanded to a new location in Holland where we typically break our horses. It is centrally based in Europe, and makes it easier for potential customers and riders to come see our horses.

Q: How does your young horses' performance in the ring impact your breeding decisions?

A: We are always looking to evolve along with the sport and the needs of modern showjumping. Our ultimate goal is the breeding of young superstars at every level. That is, producing a modern horse that is fast, resilient, scopey, respectful, and adaptable. There are so many shows going on nowadays, and the venues change drastically from one week to the next. You can see it here on the LGCT circuit, where we'll go from a huge grass arena in Madrid one week, to an impressive, smaller white arena by the beach in Saint Tropez. This demands horses that are focused, adaptable, and have the proper endurance.

To that end, there are two important things we do before and as the breeding season starts. We closely follow the results of the upcoming 5-7-year-old young horses and then determine both their breeding pedigrees and which sires appear more strongly and could potentially be interesting for our annual program. We typically match the proven, older sires with our younger, modern mares. For the younger, upcoming stallions, we take them into account for our proven broodmares.

Q: What are your favorite parts about attending the Longines Athina Onassis Horse Show as a rider and owner?

A: LAOHS is more than a competition, it is an experience! First of all, it all started with Athina Onassis, who had the idea for this special leg, which then became part of the most prestigious circuit [LGCT] around. Then there are Showrunners Denis Monticolo and Sara Tanganelli, who are not only incredible friends, but the best organizers one can have on their team.

At LAOHS, the top rider-horse combinations inspire and teach us, and the food and atmosphere in the VIP and all around the arena are unmatched. You can bring friends and family, who might not be as familiar with riding, and they will have the best time. Meanwhile, the proximity to Saint Tropez's city center is ideal for shopping or dining, and provides a truly holistic experience. There is something for everyone at LAOHS!

Q: Can you give us a quick preview of some of the PremiuMares foals you are most excited about in 2023?

A: This year, we are expecting some very interesting and special foals! First of all, two foals (by Chacco-Blue and Conthargos) from our five-star mare, About a Dream (Clinton x Indoctro), who won the award for best Swiss horse back in 2018 under Pius Schwizer.

We're expecting two foals (by Conthargos and Chacco-Blue) in July from Tampa Odeveld (Bamako de Muze x Querlybet Hero). She is the sister of Odense Odeveld, who competes at the 1.55m level at age nine, in the direct line of the famous Cordula de Laubry.

Then there is the full-sister of the famous Vannan (Diamant de Semilly x Kannan), who has already produced an approved stallion by Cornet Obolensky and a 'black type' daughter. We have a beautiful filly by Eldorado from her, and are expecting a Cornet foal in June!

We are especially excited about a filly born in April by Don't Touch Tiji Hero and the famous Cleopatra de Laubry (Skippy II x Feo), who jumped at the 1.60m-level herself and is the maternal sister of RMF Echo. Finally, we have two beautiful fillies coming by Emerald and Conthargos, from the maternal sister of Dieu Merci van T&L, as well as another Conthargos foal.

We also have some young mares whose pedigrees are growing and who themselves have shown incredible potential in their free jumping, including Calise Talent Z (direct line of Glasgow—W Vh Merelsnest), Tesla Vh Dingeshof (sister of Torado Dingeshof Z), and many others!

MOLOKO, THE RESTAURANT THAT WILL MAKE SAINT-TROPEZ VIBRATE

Moloko, which already has two establishments in Paris and Miami, nested on the terrace of the Kube Saint-Tropez, facing the sea. On the menu, the chef has concocted a plethora of starters and dishes to share that combine a traditional and startling cuisine, prepared with high-quality products, deeply rooted in Asian cuisine: Moloko Sandos and chicken bao, great classics of Japanese cuisine, elaborated here with noble products for some like the Toro Sando.

Located on the shaded terrace or sunny rooftop of the Kube Saint-Tropez, Moloko also offers a menu of signature elixirs and original creations reworked with a touch of Japanese influence.

The alliance of two beautiful addresses and the promise of exceptional moments to share...

THE GOURMET PIZZA BY CHEF ROBERTO CONTI

Chef Roberto Conti, already Michelin star of the prestigious 'Trussardi alla Scala' Restaurant in Milan, soon executive chef of the first world hotel in Milan designed by Philipp Plein, has always been a great enthusiast of leavened food. He has a passion that combines creativity and innovation with a wise use of raw materials and cooking to enhance the flavor, with the aim to satisfy even the most demanding palates.

With this brand-new stage of Chef's Conti journey, Corner58 proposes a very light pizza, thanks to a dough that rises for at least 24 hours, very hydrated (70%) and digestible, to get the perfect, airy chewy texture inside as well as a crispy rim, an important plus that distinguishes pizza from Corner58.

BEST TORTELLI IN THE WORLD BY CHEF MATTEO UGOLOTTI

Mentioned by the Michelin Guide, the international reference for fine dining, L'Ambasciata is a truly unique restaurant, with an unmistakable baroque atmosphere inspired by the Renaissance splendor, reborn in 2020 in Quistello (Mantova), under the guide of Chef Matteo Ugolotti and his partner Paolo Guaragnella.

Having grown up in the Ambasciata kitchen, after several culinary experiences in Parma, Copenhagen and New York, as well as some international awards, in 2019 chef Ugolotti and Mr Guaragnella decide to take over L'Ambasciata by recovering its original decor of a timeless place, combining personality with respect for the raw materials of Mantuan cuisine, an authentic local cuisine inspired by the scents of Po Valley.

"If you want to try the best Tortelli in the world, go to Matteo Ugolotti" once said René Redzepi, executive Chef of Noma Copenhagen. During the entire event Chef Ugolotti will delight guests with his most iconic dish: "Tortelli di zucca", a handmade pumpkin-filled pasta typical of this northern province of Italy.
